LESSON FOR AUGUST 17

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS.

LESSON TEXTS—Acts 13; 13:1-14:28.
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.
DEVOTIONAL MATERIAL—Matthew 9:14-17; Luke 10:5-9; Acts 20:13-38.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping everybody to know Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The whole world needs Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Taking the gospel to the whole world.
SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian missions: aims and results.

I. The Obligation of Missions (Mark 16:15).

God saves men for a purpose. That purpose is to be laborers together with him in the salvation of others. Christ's parting message, yea, his final commission to the disciples was, "Go, preach the Gospel to every creature." This obligation still rests upon the church. Since the command is to preach the Gospel to every creature, this obligation will obtain as long as there is one unreached soul.

II. The Power of Missions (Acts 1:8).

This power is the supernatural indwelment of the Holy Spirit. Missionaries endeavor without the Holy Spirit is doomed to failure. Power to witness for Christ is the purpose of the gift of the Spirit. Success will crown the efforts of those who go forth under the leadership and power of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit was not given primarily to make Christians happy, but to make them strong to carry the Gospel to the heathen. However, those who go forth in this blessed service in the Spirit's power are truly happy.

III. The Scope of Missionary Endeavor (Acts 1:8).

The disciples were to begin their witnessing where they were when the Holy Spirit fell upon them—Jerusalem. But they were to go out from there to the "uttermost parts of the earth." This is the program for every disciple of Christ. Begin witnessing where Christ saves you and then go to your neighbors and from them on to the remotest bounds of the earth. There is no such thing as "home missions," except that you begin at home.

IV. The First Foreign Missionaries (13:1-14; 28).

1. Who they were (13:2). Barnabas and Saul were selected—the very best two men in the church. The evangelization of the world is a task of such tremendous importance that it challenges the church to offer her best men and women. Since an instructor is judged by its representatives, it becomes the church to put her most capable men to the front.

2. By whom sent (13:2, 4). The Holy Spirit chose these men and sent them forth to their work. The church at Antioch seemed to have deliberately planned this missionary enterprise. It was after prayer and fasting that the Spirit ordered the church to send forth these missionaries. It should be the business of the church to constantly seek the mind of God relative to sending forth laborers into the Lord's vineyard. The Spirit calls and sends men forth, but he does this through the church.

3. Some experiences of the first foreign missionaries:

(1) Withstood by Elymas the sorcerer (13:6-12). Elymas moved by the devil, sought to turn the mind of Sergius Paulus from the faith, thus barring the Gospel as it enters upon its widest mission of salvation. The most villainous act which one can commit is to turn a soul from the Gospel. (2). Worshiped as gods (14:8-18). (a) The occasion (vv. 8-10). God accompanied the testimony of these missionaries by his mighty power. He wrought a miracle through Paul. At his call the inveterate cripple—one who had never walked—leaped up and walked. The cure was instant. (b) The method (vv. 11-13). They called Barnabas, Jupiter, and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker. They declared that the gods had come down in the likeness of men, and they brought oxen and garlands to offer sacrifice. (c) Their efforts foiled (vv. 14-18). 1. The missionaries rent their clothes and ran in among the people, saying they were not divine but beings of like passions with themselves. 2. They urged the people to turn to God. 3. Paul stoned (vv. 19-23). Stirred up by wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium, the rabble who a moment ago were worshiping are filled with satanic hate. Doubtless Paul remembered Stephen's experience. God raised him up and he went forth to discharge his duties as a missionary. Such men of courage are needed today.

Without Loyalty to Christ.

A Christianity without loyalty to the Christ, as its motive and inspiration, may be likened to—well, may we say, our solar system minus the sun.

An Inward Beauty.

There is an inward beauty, life, and loveliness in divine truth, which cannot be known but when it is digested into life and practice.—John Smith.

Take heed of the first stumble, for it is ominous; and at best there is a good step lost.—Benjamin Whichcote.

Egyptian Pyramids.

It took 123,000,045 slaves, working 14 hours a day for three centuries to complete the pyramids of Egypt, and the mummies exported from them have lost bowels, all told, $1,000,000.—New York Sun.

After The Railroads

Railroads operating in this state must give the public a reasonable degree of comfort while they are on the trains and while waiting for the trains to reach the station. This was the declaration today of Chairman Rhea, of the state corporation commission, who has been making a quiet investigation of the trains and the station accommodations for weeks. He has done much of the work himself, and much has also been done by agents of the commission. Chairman Rhea said it was his desire to first call attention of the railroad men to the conditions and to give them a chance to remedy the conditions, and that if they failed to do this the proper steps will be taken to see that the demands of the public are heeded. Chairman Rhea told of a train leaving this city in which 25 or more passengers were forced to stand in the aisles for three hours or more. He says that more cars are to be provided, that they must be kept clean. He also says the stations on the roads are in horrible condition, are cold, dilapidated, filthy, ill kept, inadequate, inconvenient and generally unfit for use.

"I have personally talked with the officers and have given them notice of what they must do," said Chairman Rhea. "They will do this or else steps will be taken to force the issue." Chairman Rhea told of the insolent and offensive indifference of some of the attaches of the railroads and these must receive attention.—Times-Dispatch.

FOUR BIG TRAINS

Are Used to Transport John Robinson's Mammoth Circus

John Robinson's Circus is billed to pitch its city of tents in Lynchburg on Monday, August 18th, giving performances afternoon and night.

No one should miss the opportunity of seeing this famous show if possible to do so. The name of John Robinson has stood the test of time for nearly a century and is conceded to be the leader in tented exhibitions both in this country and in Europe.

The show this year travels on four special trains and the street parade, which is given in four distinct sections, is declared to be a revelation in processional grandeur, over a mile in length.

The performances in the "big top" comprises the world's best male and female riders, great herds of performing elephants, troupes of acrobats, aerialists, athletes, twenty different species of trained animals, troupes of Japanese and Arabian, Cossack horsemen, the largest collection of rare wild animals ever exhibited, a field museum of curios, prodigious pageants and tournaments, pumpkin pastimes, and a quarter of a mile race track, on which is presented speed contests and feats of endurance.

There will be all kinds of music, including a military band of fifty pieces, South American Marimba musicians, the original Dixie "Jas band," Scottish and Oriental reed pipers, and a Viennese orchestra are among the novel features that distinguish John Robinson's circus from the ordinary.

There will be a wonderful street parade at ten thirty o'clock. Performances will begin at two and eight o'clock. Doors will be opened one hour earlier for menagerie inspection.

He kept exact accounts of every financial transaction.

Following Washington in Keeping Farm Records

George Washington was one of the first scientific farmers in America, always looking for better methods. Once he declared that he had little patience with those "content to read the ruts their fathers trod."

Washington was a strong believer in keeping accurate farm accounts. In his rules for success, he wrote:

"I cannot enjoin too strongly upon you a due observance of economy and frugality. Keep an account book and enter therein every farthing of your receipts and expenditures. There is no proverb in the whole catalogue of them more than 'a penny saved is a penny got.'"

He practiced what he preached, in this respect as in others. There was nothing haphazard about his business methods.

Camel CIGARETTES

CAMELS supply cigarette contentment beyond anything you ever experienced! You never tasted such full-bodied mellow-mildness: such refreshing, appetizing flavor and coolness. The more Camels you smoke the greater becomes your delight—Camels are such a cigarette revelation!

Everything about Camels you find so fascinating is due to their quality—to the expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.

You'll say Camels are in a class by themselves—they seem made to meet your own personal taste in so many ways! Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels particularly desirable as the most fastidious smokers. And, you smoke Camels as liberally as meets your own wishes, for they never tire your taste! You are always keen for the cigarette satisfaction that makes Camels so attractive. Smokers realize that the value is in the cigarettes and do not expect premiums or coupons!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with a bad back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would scarcely eat, I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, I decided to

TAKE

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . . .

"It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble."

If you suffer pain caused from, seemingly trouble, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic to build up your female system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Cardui. It helped her. We believe it will help you.

Your America And War

(Prepared by Major Charles H. Carson)

(Acknowledgment of Historical Data is made to "The War With Germany, a Statistical Summary," by Col. Leonard P. Ayres and "American Battles," the Report of the Assistant Secretary of War, Benedict Crowell.)

If revolutions, insurrections, expeditions and campaigns can be classed as wars, November 11, 1918, marked the close of the one hundred and fifth war that the United States of America has been engaged in. Beginning with the War of the Revolution from 1775 to 1783 through the Wyoming Valley Pennsylvania Insurrection of 1782; the Navy War of 1840; the Sioux Indian Wars of 1876 up to what is classed as the European War of 1917 1918, America has steadily gained in power, in leadership, in effective instruments up to the present, when springing away from the old types of armies that merely fight with weapons of destruction, this country is not only arming their men with rifles and hand grenades, but arming them with a third given intellect that will prepare them for their battle with economic forces after they have completed their military training.

Will we have another war? That is a question that cannot be truthfully answered by any living man, in the opinion of many. Whether we do or whether we do not, it is not the intention of this article to discuss. We have had a war, when many people thought war was impossible. What we did in this past war will be a lesson gained only through hardships and suffering that can be described by others better than by the writer. What were some of these lessons? What did America, Your America, accomplish in this past war? The average civilian knows that we entered the war and on a vast scale, he knows that we emerged victorious. But does he know the story behind every shell that went to the battlefields of France, behind every man that sailed across the seas?

Our participation in the European War shows all through it the rapid stride that this and every other nation has made in the hundreds of years past. Since the pre-historic days of the cave dwellers, matching brawn against brawn, fighting for possession of a coveted spring or mountain stream; up to the North American Indian with his crude bow and arrow, defending what he thought were his rights against the invading "pale face", we see personal, racial and national conflict.

From the crude weapons and stone throwing instruments of Attila's and Caesar's time, through the flint-lock of the American Revolution; the rifle and muzzle loader of the Civil War; the Crag repeating rifle against Spain, and up to the present with instruments that hurl projectiles weighing tons, and mortars against which the supposed impenetrable fortresses of Liege have fallen, we see the preparation for war and the increasing strides in the manufacture of war instruments.

From Attila, Caesar, Charlemagne, Frederick the Great; up to Washington, the immortals Lee and Jackson; then Grant, Funston, Wood, Pershing, von Hindenburg, Nicholas, William II, Kitchener, Lord Roberts, Foch and Petain, we see the ever increasing strategy of leaders of men, representative of every nation.

Where once men grappled hand in hand with their enemy, and aimed squarely at his opponent's breast-plate, we now see miles of dust covered obstacles strewing in the ground and firing where their leaders direct, at the place where the enemy ought to be as pointed out by accouting aero-squadron even though they are entirely hidden from view. In men, their designs, their instruments and their tactics, we see one immense plan of gradual evolution.

Yesterday, the savage—today, the cream of civilization. Yesterday, an argument over the possession of a mountain stream—today, they are fighting for nations. Yesterday, the bow and arrow—today, the then undreamed of howitzers, mortars, etc. Yesterday, fighting face to face, man to man—today, millions against millions, on the earth, under the earth, and in the air above the earth in conflict wages!

But behind this evolution is a story, the story of American participation in our latest war. This war cost the United States considerably more than one million dollars an hour for over two years. Our expenditures in this past war was sufficient to have carried on the Revolutionary War continously for more than 1,000 years at the rate of expenditure which that war actually involved. The total war cost of all nations was about $186,000,000,000, of which amount the allies spent two thirds and the enemy one third, as shown by the following table:

Estimated Total War Expenditures of Principal Nations to April 30, 1919 (All figures in billions of dollars and exclusive of normal expenses and loans to allies):

Power	Billions Dols.
Germany	40
British Empire	36
France	30
United States	22
Austria-Hungary	20
Russia	15
Italy	12
Belgium, Roumania, Portugal, Yugo-Slavia	5
Turkey and Bulgaria	3
Japan and Greece	3
Total Expenditures	186

One of our greatest achievements in the European War was that called the Meuse-Argonne Battle. This battle lasted for forty seven days and during that time Your America had 1,200,000 troops engaged. There were 2,417 American guns employed in the engage-

Many Interesting Reports Made of Her People.

The meeting conducted by Dr. T. H. Lacy at Emanuel Church, Glenmore, closed on Sunday.

Mr P. P. Glover and Mr John G. Glover's family returned from a trip to the Valley of Virginia last week

A brother of Mr Tom Colline killed himself in Staunton last week, using a pistol. He had been despondent since the loss of his wife, last winter. It is said that in one hand was the pistol that had done its deadly work and in the other a Bible. It is reported here that he will be left the Gilliam Farm near here by Mrs. Fon Christian.

Messrs. John and Henry Lewis, of Howardsville, were visitors here Sunday.

Miss Katherine King another, of Richmond, are stay at the home of Mr W Lee Patteson.

Messrs. P. P. Glover, Henry G. Glover and Miss Willie Glover spent Sunday with Dr. Perkins Glover, where they went to attend the christening of little Price Perkins Glover, Dr Glover's son

Maysville school board met here the 15th and appointed the following teachers: Miss Lizzie Stinson, for Bethlehem school; Miss Julia Spencer, assistant in St. Andrew's (border) school; Miss Kathleen Morgan, Malone school; Miss Anna Roy Rodgers, "Possie" school. The same colored teachers appointed as last year.

The crops of corn on high land, where it was well worked, are just splendid. Mr. P. P. Glover and Mr James L. Baird have some fine corn.

Mr J. M. Seward is preparing to join his family in the West, and Mr. Peter Shepherd and Mr. Springer have rented the farm and Mr. Springer has moved in the house.

Tobacco cutting has begun; some good, some poor.

Melons are coming in now and the prices are about in keeping with the prices of other things.

Consumers are hoping to see food stuffs come down in price since the investigation ordered from Washington is going on. I never saw such an increase in the number of hogs as has taken place in the last six months. With plenty of hogs and corn and a fair crop of wheat, looks like living would be easy next year, so far as bread and meat go to make it so.
